

Signaling between ungulates and their predators, depending on the degree of predation pressure